DESCRIPTION: MILEY CYRUS REPORTER: MARIA CELESTE

Miley Cyrus fans can breathe easy because the actress and singer who plays the famous Hannah Montana is alive and well. In the last 24 hours, rumors spread like wildfire that Miley had died due to a health crisis, but she personally denied it during the premier of the animated film "Bolt" in which the superstar provides the voice for a girl called Penny.

Miley herself explained that the rumors probably started because she had actually been out of the spotlight for several days to a strong cold. As a result, Miley did not approach her fans to shake hands or sign autographs as is her custom because she didn't want to spread her cold. Let's hope she gets better so that on Sunday, her 16th birthday, she can celebrate.
